

History Fair Contestants:

Welcome to History Bee competition! Below are links to use (in addition to the Study Guides you received) to help get you ready for the school level round in January. If you find these links dead or find additional links that are helpful, that are not listed, please let me know so I can share them with all participants. Happy studying!

Links:

History Channel's Ultimate History Quiz:

<http://quiz.history.com/generalinterest>

History Crash Course YouTube Home Page:

<https://www.youtube.com/user/crashcourse>

Many videos are fine, but some may need PARENTAL PREVIEWING!

Middle School Quizbowl Packet Archive:

<http://ms.quizbowlpackets.com/>

Everything posted here is copyrighted by the writers and tournament hosts. Use these sets to review. Bolded links are to sets that are highly recommended as practice material.

QUIA:

<https://www.quia.com/>

This is a QUIA shared activities area. Chose Visit Quia Web. Click on Shared Activities found in lower right section. Click on History.

Quizlet:

<https://quizlet.com/>

Online database of flashcards covering thousands of topics! Type HISTORY or a historical topic of choice into the SEARCH box.

"You Gotta Know" Links:

<https://www.naqt.com/YouGottaKnow/index.html>

"You Gotta Know" is a series of articles that highlights a category and the list of the (more or less) ten answers that NAQT's editors have judged the most valuable to know for the purposes of quiz bowl. These will be the people, places, events, or ideas that had the strongest and most far-reaching impact on history (perhaps mixed with those that had the most interesting and memorable stories associated with them). The lists will include very brief summaries of the answers' importance, but will in no way aspire to be a complete description of the answers' significance. That exercise is left to the reader...

High School Quizbowl Packet Archive:

<http://www.quizbowlpackets.com/>

For those who know everything- here is a preview of the HS questions. Everything posted here is copyrighted by the writers and tournament hosts. Use these sets to review. Bolded links are sets that are highly recommended as practice material.